

Smithsonian
*Donald W. Reynolds Center for American Art and Portraiture
National Portrait Gallery*

National Portrait Gallery

Visiting the 3rd Floor

A Social Narrative

I am going to the National Portrait Gallery soon. There are many things to see at the Gallery.

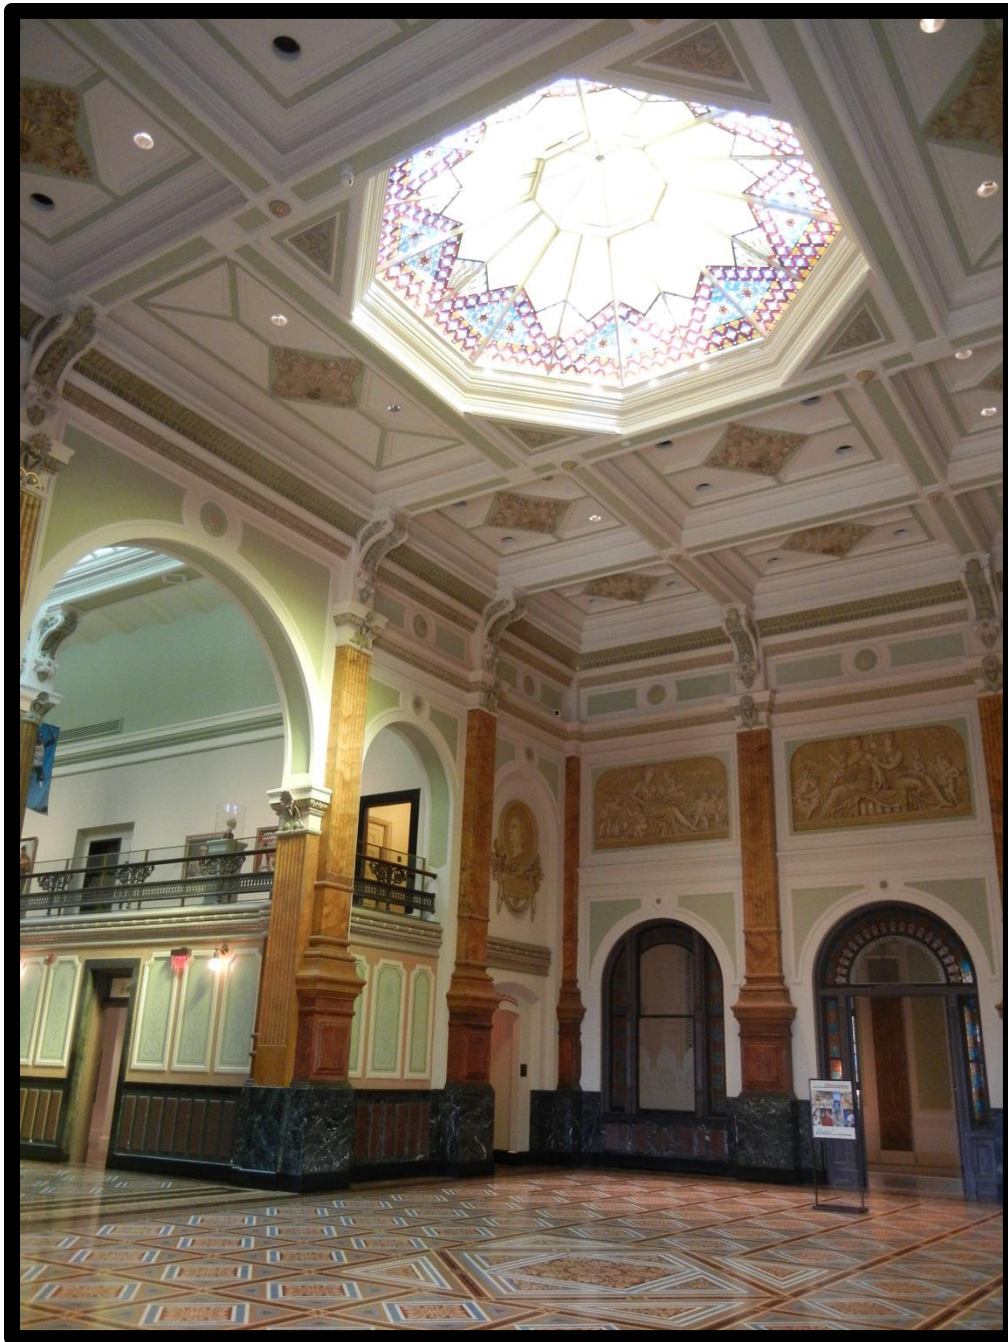

A portrait shows us what a person looked like. I may know the person in a portrait but if I don't that is okay.

A portrait can be a painting, a sculpture, a photo, or many other things.

I may take the elevator or stairs to the 3rd floor where I may see the Great Hall.

On the 3rd floor there are three exhibitions. An exhibition is a group of portraits shown together.

One exhibition is called Twentieth Century Americans. In this exhibition, I may see portraits of people from the year 1900 until today.

There are four rooms for Twentieth Century Americans. I can enter each room from the Great Hall.

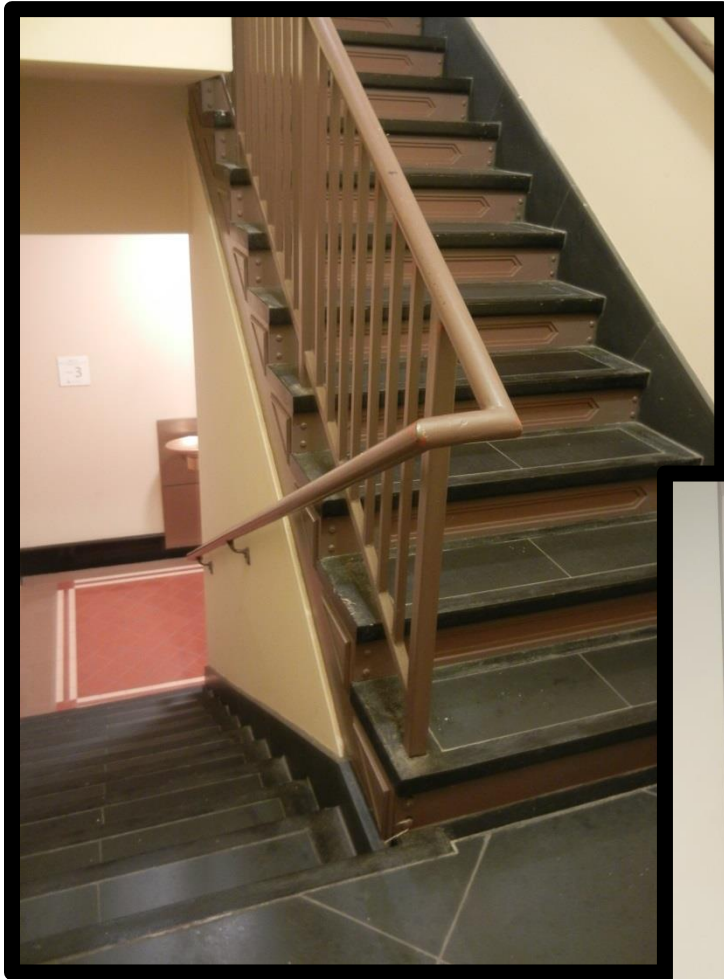

I may see and hear televisions.

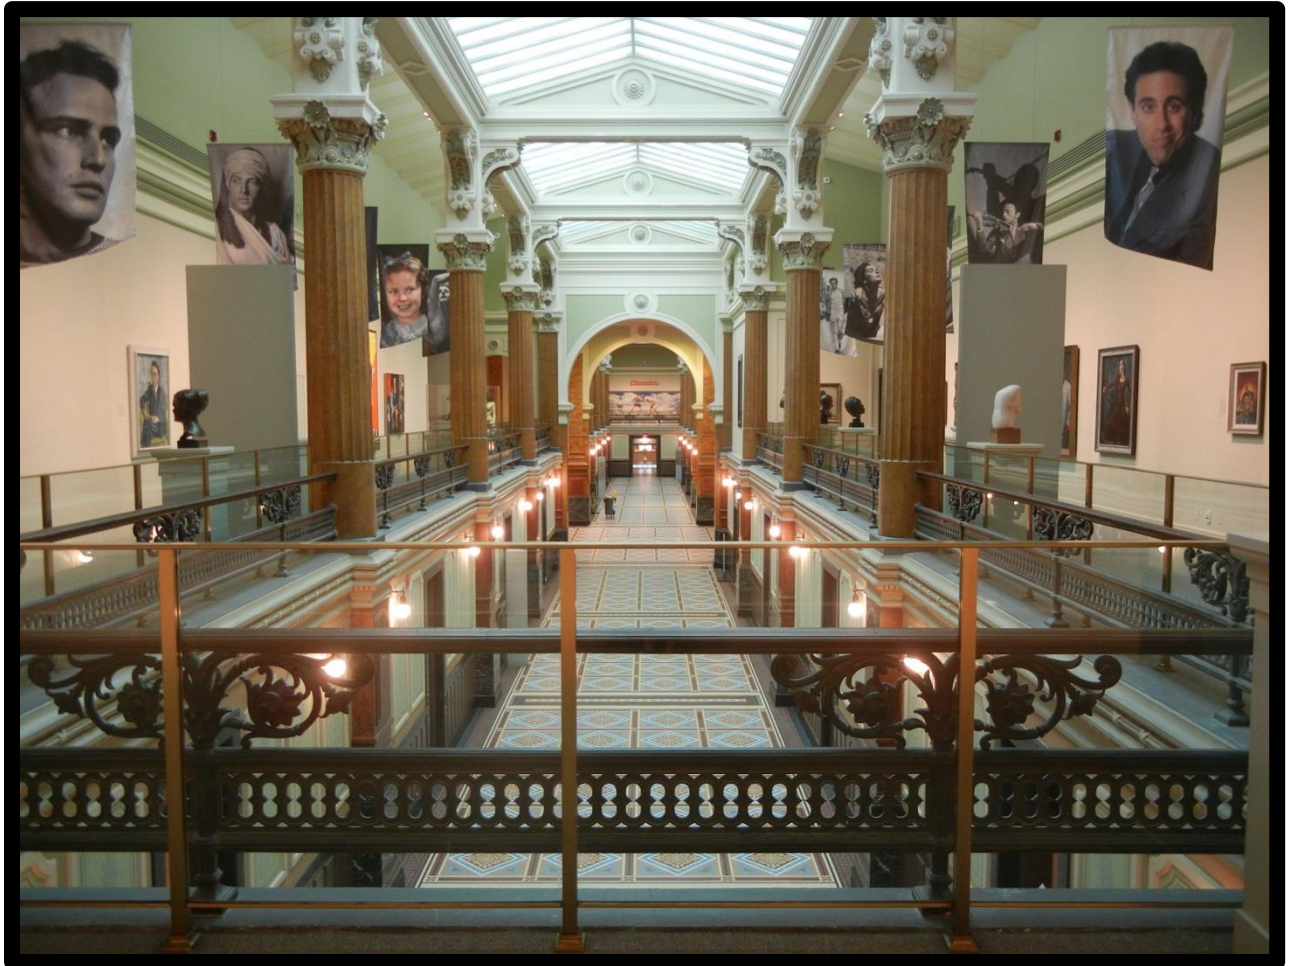

I may go upstairs to see the exhibitions on the mezzanine. The mezzanine is like a balcony.

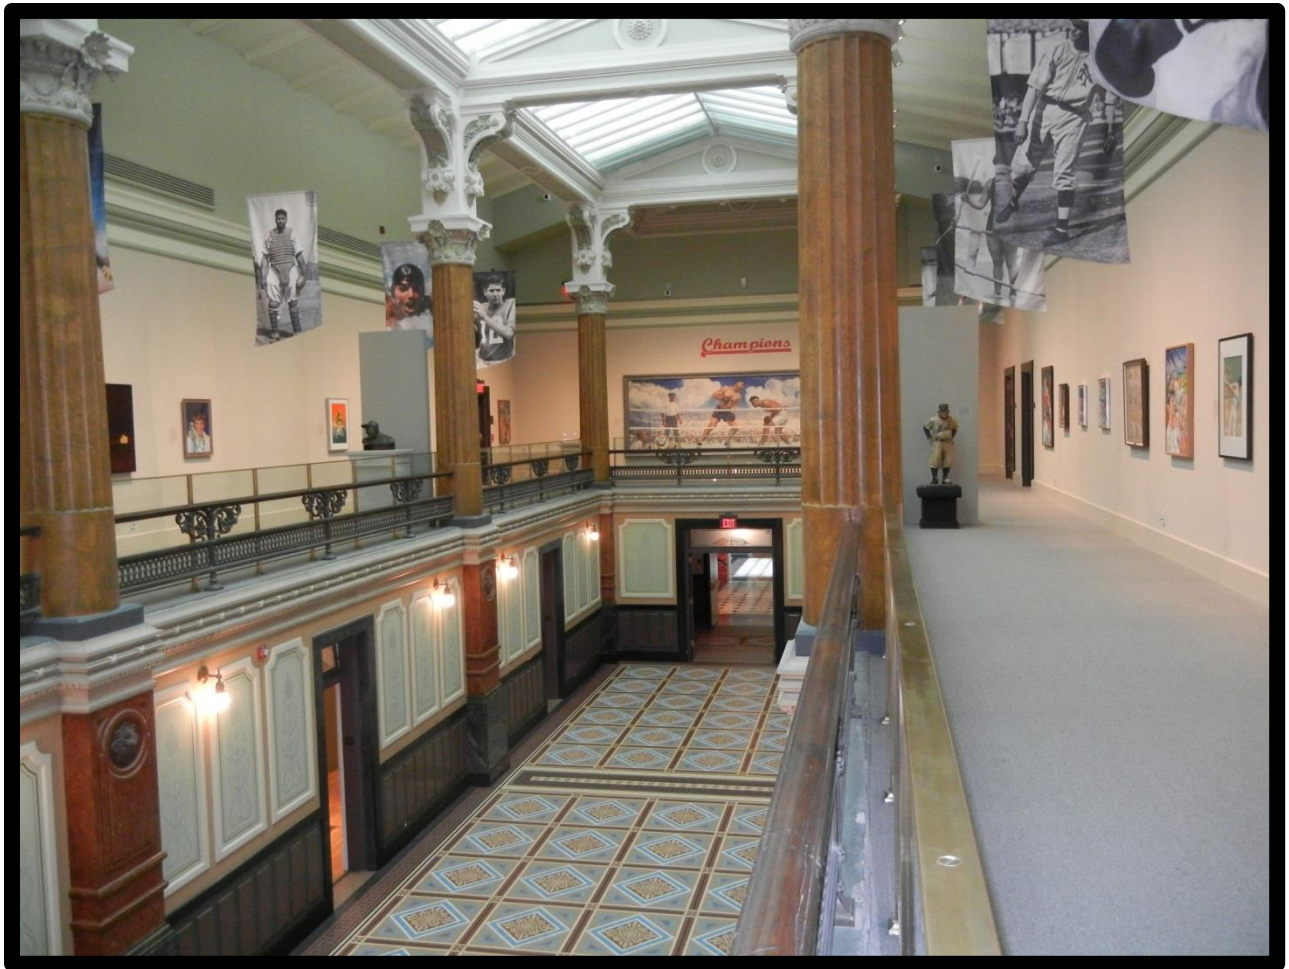

I may walk up stairs or take the elevator to get to the mezzanine.

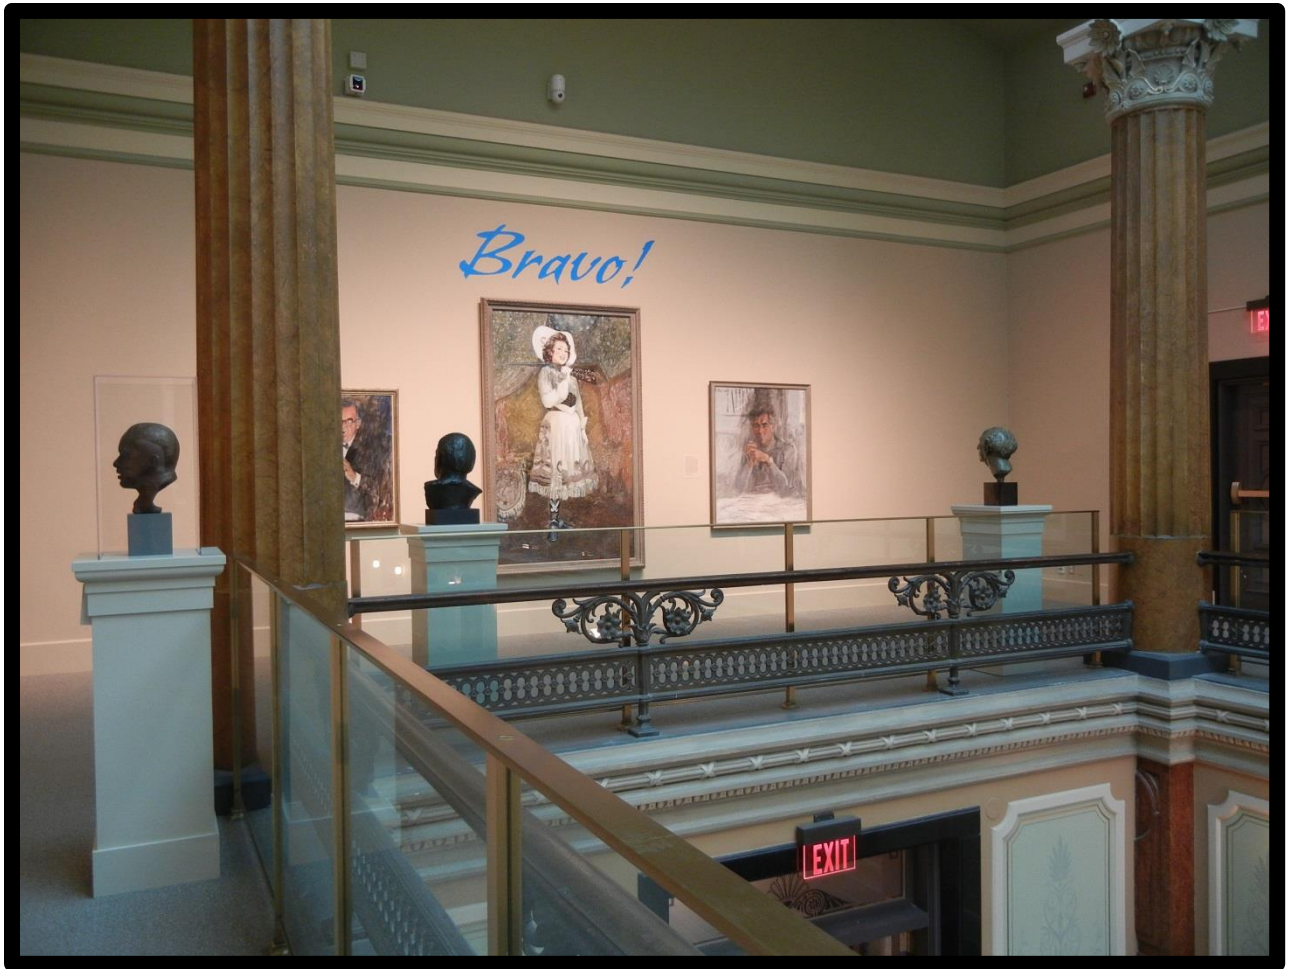

I can see the whole Great Hall from the mezzanine.

I may see the Champions exhibition. There are portraits of athletes there.

I may visit the Bravo! Exhibition which includes portraits of actors and singers.

I am going to the National Portrait Gallery.

I will go to the 3rd floor and the Great Hall.

I will see portraits of Twentieth Century Americans.

I may go up to the mezzanine.

I may see portraits from Champions and Bravo!.